Best Airlines for Families: Traveling with Kids Made Easy

People travel for various reasons. Some travel for business, some travel to explore new places, and some travel to have a getaway with their families. And when it comes to traveling with kids, it's natural for parents to look for the best airlines for families. And there's a valid reason for it.

Traveling with kids can be a daunting task. The challenges associated with flying get amplified while traveling with kids. You don't have to worry only about your luggage and timely boarding, but also have to ensure the comfort and convenience of your kids and other fliers. The responsibility increases exponentially.

Airlines want more passengers on board, and in today's highly competitive times, offering only cheap family flights will not cut the deal. As a result, they are offering benefits that can attract more families:

- Better policies for family seating
- Kid-friendly meal options
- Free check-in for strollers
- Entertainment options that can keep kids engaged
- Faster pre-boarding, lap seats, and other child-oriented policies

Based on these parameters, today, we bring you a list of the best airlines for family travel. Let's begin without further ado.

1. Lufthansa

Lufthansa is the pinnacle of comfort and reliability, offering lucrative family flight packages and an excellent flight experience for kids. No wonder the airline won the well-deserved 2025 World Airline Award for Most Family-Friendly Airline.

Lufthansa does more than take the stress away; the airline makes flying fun, engaging, and enjoyable for kids and you.

- Lufthansa has a family-focused approach that offers special services and benefits specifically designed for families.
- Family-friendly airport areas ensure kids are safe and well-entertained.
- Lufthansa makes the check-in process more manageable for families to help them experience a smoother start to their journey.
- Kids are provided with toys and handicraft sets to keep them entertained during the flight.
- Specially crafted meals that make children drool, along with baby food for infants and toddlers.
- Lufthansa also offers in-flight entertainment with a selection of children's films and radio plays.

Let's take a look at the other best airlines for families.

2. American Airlines

When it comes to flying with kids, American Airlines is undoubtedly among the best airlines for families in America. Parents travelling with kids choose American Airlines because:

- Special meals for kids two to five years old. American Airlines also offers baby food. Both these meal options are available at request, and the request should be placed at least 24 hours before your departure.
- Kids-centric entertainment options to keep them engaged.
- Pre-boarding option for families traveling with kids under 2 years of age.

But that's not all, for children under the age of 2 years can travel for free on their parents' lap when flying domestically. American Airlines also happens to be among the best international airlines for families. Lap seats are available at a mere ten percent of the adult fare for international flights.

Also, there's no check-in for a car seat or a stroller if you plan to bring one. Some flights also have bassinets for kids, and you need to talk to a booking expert to know the best time to book your flight if you want this feature for your child.

American Airlines cares not only about your child's convenience, but also their safety. And that's why when you travel with kids, your child doesn't sit alone on an American Airlines flight. The best part is that the company doesn't charge you extra to allocate a seat for you next to your child.

3. United Airlines

United Airlines is another aviation firm that offers convenient and affordable traveling for families. The company offers cheap family flights along with a wide range of family-focused perks.

- Kids up to two years of age get to fly on their parents' lap or have a seat booked for them to any destination.
- You can bring an approved car seat for your child.
- You can also bring a CARES harness to seat your child securely.
- If your kids are below the age of 12 years, you can select your seats for free (up to two kids and one adult).
- In case of a change on the airline's behalf renders no option to sit together, United Airlines offers you another flight free of cost.
- Some economy class United Airlines international flights also offer bassinets for your child.

Understanding how energetic kids are, United Airlines also has a travel kit specially designed for kids. This kit includes crayons, an activity book, and a puzzle to keep them occupied and engaged. The seat-back entertainment also has child-focused programs that your kids will love to watch.

Hunger makes us all grumpy, and kids are not an exception. As one of the best airlines for families, United Airlines also has free snacks and special child-friendly meal options. So why is it behind American Airlines? That's because United offers only water and orange juice in its kid-friendly drinks option.

4. Delta Airlines

Meticulously crafted family-focused features and policies make Delta a strong contender among the best airlines for families.

- An extensive child-oriented entertainment system to keep your kids entertained
- Kids under the age of 2 years get a lap seat
- Destination-based discounts for kids who need their own seat
- Kids-specific snacks, meals, and drinks
- Bassinets, infant seats, breast pump, or an associated cooler bag available on request, charges extra
- SkyCots are available on a first-come, first-served basis

Delta Airlines also makes boarding faster and easier for those travelling with kids. Delta has family-friendly policies when it comes to seating. They make sure the family can sit together if and when possible.

5. Southwest Airlines

Families travelling within America or to South America are all praises for Southwest Airlines. Apart from offering lucrative family flight deals, the airline offers a wide range of services and creature comfort features:

- Free bag check-in
- Flight credits don't expire
- No change fee
- Rapid Rewards, the frequent flyer program, is flexible and easy to understand
- Affordable WiFi
- Free streaming entertainment
- Reasonable fee for unaccompanied children below the age of 12 years
- No fee for young travels(12-17 years of age) traveling alone
- Families traveling with kids under the age of five get faster boarding

There's one important thing to remember, though. Southwest doesn't offer children-specific meals per se. But you can bring meals for your children to eat on the flight. The airline does offer complimentary pretzels and peanuts.
