

Introduction

Pursuing mbbs in Mauritius has become a popular choice among international students, especially Indians, due to its quality education, English-medium programs, and globally recognized medical degrees. Mauritius offers a safe environment, modern infrastructure, and affordable education compared to many Western countries. However, before choosing this destination, students must understand the total cost involved. This blog explains tuition fees, living expenses, and the overall budget required for studying MBBS abroad in Mauritius.

---

Tuition Fees for MBBS in Mauritius

The largest portion of the total cost is tuition fees. In Mauritius, medical universities offer MBBS programs at relatively moderate prices compared to countries like the USA or UK.

- Average tuition fees range between USD 4,000 to USD 8,000 per year.
- The complete MBBS course usually lasts 5 to 6 years, depending on the university.
- Total tuition cost for the full course is approximately USD 25,000 to USD 40,000.

Compared to many countries offering MBBS abroad, Mauritius provides a cost-effective option with good academic standards and clinical exposure.

---

Hostel and Accommodation Costs

Accommodation is another important factor when calculating the total cost of mbbs in Mauritius fees. Most universities provide hostel facilities for international students.

- Hostel fees typically range from USD 1,000 to USD 2,500 per year.
- Private accommodation may cost slightly higher depending on location and lifestyle.
- Hostel fees usually include basic facilities like furnished rooms, electricity, and security.

Students can choose university hostels to reduce expenses and stay closer to campus.

---

Living Expenses in Mauritius

Mauritius is considered moderately affordable for international students. Living expenses depend on lifestyle, food habits, and personal spending.

Average monthly expenses include:

- Food: USD 150 – USD 250
- Transportation: USD 30 – USD 60
- Utilities & personal expenses: USD 70 – USD 120

Total monthly living cost is around USD 250 – USD 400, which equals USD 3,000 – USD 4,800 per year.

Students who cook at home and manage their spending wisely can further reduce costs.

---

Other Expenses to Consider

Apart from tuition and living costs, students should budget for additional expenses such as:

- Admission and registration fees
- Medical insurance
- Visa and travel expenses
- Books and study materials

These extra costs usually range between USD 1,000 to USD 2,000 per year, depending on the university and personal needs.

---

Total Cost of MBBS in Mauritius

Let's estimate the overall cost of studying MBBS Abroad:

Expense Category	Approximate Cost (Full Course)
Tuition Fees	USD 25,000 – USD 40,000
Hostel/Accommodation	USD 5,000 – USD 12,000
Living Expenses	USD 15,000 – USD 25,000
Other Expenses	USD 5,000 – USD 8,000
Total Cost	USD 50,000 – USD 85,000

This makes Mauritius a reasonably affordable destination for MBBS abroad compared to many developed countries where medical education can cost over USD 200,000.

---

Why Choose MBBS in Mauritius?

Here are some key benefits of studying MBBS in Mauritius:

- English-medium medical education
- Globally recognized degrees
- Affordable tuition fees
- Safe and multicultural environment
- Good clinical training and hospital exposure
- Simple admission process for international students

These advantages make Mauritius a strong option for students seeking quality medical education abroad without extremely high costs.

---

Conclusion

In conclusion, the total cost of mbbs in Mauritius ranges between USD 50,000 and USD 85,000 for the complete course, including tuition, accommodation, and living expenses. It is a budget-friendly option for students planning MBBS abroad while still receiving quality medical education consultant and international exposure. Proper financial planning, choosing affordable accommodation, and managing daily expenses can help students reduce their overall cost significantly.

If you are considering studying medicine overseas, Mauritius is definitely worth exploring. For more guidance, updates, and expert support on MBBS abroad opportunities, stay connected with Education Vibes, your trusted partner in global medical education.